

From 1905 to 1915, there are only two points specified as cemetery corners in the deeds. During the Survey of 1915, probably conducted at ACME's request, several more corners were specified. At this time, several errors were introduced inadvertently or intentionally. The actual location of the cemetery is to the right of a line joining the two corners common to all deeds. In the 1915 Survey, the cemetery lies to the left of the line formed by joining the two points common to all deeds.

#5. H.C. Jett et. al. to ACME Coal & Land Co.1922, Surveyed in 1915

The unit of measure in the deeds is the "pole". The pole is defined in Webster's Dictionary as 16.5 linear feet, or 1 rod. That is the definition used here. A local surveyor has NOT been consulted.

Comparison of deeds from 1905 to 1922. After 1922, the Jett deed is used as reference for future deeds.
